Western League Standing.

A slight flavor of sadness permeated what would have otherwise been the most glorlous day in the history of the magnificent Ben-Hur affair that has been going on between Minneapolis and Indianapolis for a large, long rag that is to float next year over the home of the victors. The first game was a peach and the second a lallapalooza, but still the rooters mourned. Poor old "Hot Stuff" was having trouble with his "pipes" and couldn't-yell loud enough to be heard twenty feet. Barring this small misfortune, the occasion was as smile producing as the upsetting of a load of watermelons on Indiana avenue. The first game was a harrowing affair to the alleged 3,000 rooters and rootresses, and in the seventh inning, when the first run of the day was made by the gentlemen from Beeropolis, the harrow harrowed a little more harrowingly. But in the eighth! Wow! Not a Brewer had reached third base alive until the seventh, four strike-outs by Newton and a pair of double plays in which Hickey, Stewart, Allen, Newton and Motz participated having much to do with the result. In the seventh, however, with two men out by a double play of Hickey and Motz, Weaver hit safe to right and stole second. A single by Stafford away down the right foul line brought him in. The Hoosiers came to bat, got one hit, by Allen, and perished.

In the eighth inning, after the Brewers' attempts to fatten their score had been in vain, Hickey opened the jackpot with a hit down centerwards. Kahoe attempted to sacrifice, but Chech's wild throw saved him. The ball passed Stafford and let Hickey to third and Kahoe to second. Newton singled to center, scoring Hickey and advancing Kahoe. Hogriever followed with a single, which was stretched another base by a wild throw by Viox, while Newton reached third and scored with Hogriever on Hartzell's hit. A hit by Motz followed, and he reached second on Atherton's wild throw to Stafford, on which Hartzell scored and McFarland made safe. A base on balls fell to Allen, and Stewart flew out to left, bringing in Motz. Hickey signalized his second time which brought in McFarland. Kahoe tapped out a single to short center and scored Allen. Then he went out at second on an attempt to steal, and Newton's out by Chech to Stafford ended the inning with a record of twelve men up, nine runs and Youngstown127 Brewers couldn't and the Hoosiers needn

THE SECOND TRIUMPH.

The second game was made interesting from the start by the reappearance of Newton in the box for the Hoosiers. Deep and ominous mutterings of doubt ran through the assembly-hold on, this is not the affaire Dreyfus-at any rate, there was much fear expressed that the young man was taking more responsibility than ought to be allowed him, and when the first two outs were made out in right field, the told-youso gentlemen were free to remark. But for the first three innings, the one-two-three system prevailed and the fourth witnessed the first run—by a Brewer, as in the first game. Nicol dabbed a ball into the diamond, Newton fielded it, Motz dropped it. Barnes's hit sent Nicol to second and he stole third. Weaver fiew out to McFarland, who fielded the ball in good shape to Kabes who dropped it.

hoe, who dropped it. Nicol scored. Thirteen Hoosiers had a chance at the bell in the first four innings. In the fifth, with Allen out, Asa Stewart came to bat and the crowd was languidly wondering whether he would pop it up to an infielder, or line out a two-bagger, but Hustings settled all doubts by passing him to first. A wild pitch gave Asa another base, and third was taken on Kahoe's hit to left. Then the draw-the-throw-to-second-andscore was worked, with the result that Kahoe stole second, while Atherton threw to the plate. If the throw had been true, the acherites would have been shouting for tewart to hie him to the iron works in Terry Hut. But it wasn't, and the score was tied. With two men out in the eighth, Newton hit one of those low, rakish ones to center field. Hogriever landed on the ball for three bases with a left-field drive and Newton scored the winning run in the pennant race. Hogriever attempted to steal home and that ended it, as the Brewers, after Nicol getting one hit and being forced at second, were retired on a double play by Stewart and Motz. The cream:

DEATH OF A RACE HORSE

ARPALLO DROPS AFTER WINNING A HEAT IN A MATCH RACE.

Sensational Feature of the Closing Day's Sport at St. Paul-Great Eastern Handicap Won by Mesmerist.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 9 .- A sensational feature of to-day's races at the state fair races was the sudden death of Arpallo in the second heat of the match race between Allerto and Arpallo for a purse of $1,000, which was postponed from the opening day of the fair. Allerto had won the first heat by three lengths in 2:241/2. When the second heat was called, the race being the best two in three heats, Allerto broke at the quarter and Arpallo went ahead about ten lengths. On the way in the stretch Allerto caught up and both drivers were whipping in the finish, Arpallo winning by an open length. About twenty-five yards past the wire, just in front of the jocky clubhouse, Arpallo, who had slowed down to an easy trot, was seen to twitch his head and an instant later he pitched forward on his right side. E. C. Barnes, who was driving the horse, jumped from the sulky and escaped injury. Examination proved the horse to be dead, and from the symptoms indicated that death was due to heart disease. Arpalio was a beautiful bay stallion, six years old, and was sired by St. Gothard. He had a record of 2:291/2 and in winning the race, at the end of which he died, Arpallo had lowered his record 21/4 seconds. He was a popular horse and was valued at $5,000. His owners were E. C. Barnes and D. Kendrick, of Bismarck, N. D., and he was driven by one of his

The weather and track was all that could be desired for horse racing and about 6,000 persons were in the stand. The opening event was the fifth heat of the 2:22 pace postponed from Friday. Dan Patchen won the heat and race and at the same time cut his mark down from 2:131/4 to 2:101/4. Sum-

GREAT EASTERN HANDICAP. An Easy Victory for Mesmerist at Sheepshead Bay.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.-This was the last day of the year at Sheepshead Bay, and a large crowd gathered. The chief event was the Great Eastern handicap for two-yearolds, in which Mesmerist was asked to carry the top weight of 130 pounds, and nobly he did it. Although first away, he dropped into second place as Maribert took up the running. They ran that way, with Gulden and Redpath close up, as far as the stretch, when O'Connor turned Mesmerist loose. He went to the front so easily and maintained his lead so well that there was nothing else n the race at the end. Maribert held second place to the last furlong, when Redpatch and Gulden passed him, and they finished in that order.

Queen McGregor Dead. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 9 .- News was received in this city to-day of the death of Queen McGregor on the stock farm of her owner, John Harrison, Richland, Sangamon county. Queen McGregor was the daughter of John McGregor and her dam was old Queen. She held the world's record for pacing on a half-mile track, 2:08, which she made on the track at the Sangamon county fair grounds, now the State fair grounds. Her owner was at one time offered $10,000 for the mare by a New Yorker, which he refused. Two years ago she was taken from the circuit to be used as a brood mare. She has a yearling colt which bids fair to be very speedy.
